OCCUPATIONAL SAFETY, HEALTH, ENVIRONMENTAL AND QUALITY POLICY

I, Brett van Rensburg, CEO of JB Systems and Control(Pty) Ltd , am committed to a policy of total quality excellence and in everything we do, the establishment and maintenance of a workplace that is safe and healthy and does not harm the environment. I will ensure that this policy is understood, accepted, implemented and maintained throughout the Organisation.

JB Systems and Control's primary business is the design, manufacturing, install, maintenance and supply of electrical systems (Switch Gear) to the industry and domestic markets.

We shall ensure that products and services are rendered to meet the intended needs and stated performance criteria in accordance with the requirements of, and to the satisfaction of the customer.

JB Systems and Control uses the ISO45001 Management System Standards as tools to achieve this.

This policy is incorporated within an all-inclusive system with the following key points:

- Proactive management to protect the employee from injury and ill health, the assets and the environment of the Organisation and to eliminate potential occupational hazards and environmental degradation.
- Effective planning, support in our scope of work, evaluating our performance of our health and safety system.
- Striving to the ZERO HARM principle, resultant from clear and safe working practices which will include the provision and effective use of personal protective and other equipment applicable to the requirement of the task.
- Evaluating and training all employees in their specific tasks and responsibilities in respect of this policy.
- Detect, measure, control and correct any deviations from applicable health safety, environmental and quality standards. Always being up to date with worldwide standards and legislation within required time scales followed by preventive and remedial actions where necessary.
- Commitment to reviews of this policy and its objectives and targets, and continual growth of the total Management System.
- Establishment, documentation and management of Quality and SHE objectives and targets with achievable and measurable goals.

JB Control Systems and Control accepts, within the bounds of reasonableness, full responsibility for the health and safety of its employees and conservation of its environment in the execution of business.
